

Stock Investment Portfolio Report for John Doe

Portfolio Holdings

ID	Security Name	Market Value (USD)	Y2Y %	Industry Sector
1	S&P 500	8500000	15	Index Fund
2	MSCI AC World	6000000	12	Index Fund
3	TOPIX	4200000	13	Index Fund
4	MSCI AP ex-Japan	5700000	9	Index Fund
5	STOXX 600	3500000	5	Index Fund
6	MSCI EM	2800000	3	Index Fund

Market and News Summary

S&P 500 Performance and News

- As of February 14, 2025, the S&P 500 index was at 6,143.50, up by 0.13%.
- The top nine companies by weighting in the S&P 500 as of September 30, 2024, were Apple, Microsoft, Nvidia, Amazon.com, Meta Platforms, Alphabet, Berkshire Hathaway, Broadcom, and Tesla.
- On February 14, 2025, the S&P 500 index closed at 6,025.99, marking a 0.95% increase.
- Recent market discussions have focused on inflation fears, tariff concerns, and the unveiling of new AI models.

MSCI AC World Performance and News

- The iShares MSCI ACWI ETF (ACWI) has shown steady growth, aligning with broader trends in global equity markets.
- UBS raised its year-end 2024 forecast for the MSCI All Country (AC) World index to 830 from 800, citing improving equity risk appetite, optimism around AI, and potential slowing of U.S. wage growth.
- UBS sees about 7% upside in the MSCI AC World Index, forecasting it to hit 900 by the end of 2025, driven by risk appetite, interest rate cuts by the U.S. Federal Reserve, and generative AI.

TOPIX Performance and News

- The TOPIX index was trading at 2,737.23 JPY, showing a change of -14.97%.
- The index's low valuation compared to other markets suggests potential for TOPIX to benefit from the economic recovery.
- Recent changes in the index's calculation methodology have affected the weighting of many companies.

MSCI AP ex-Japan Performance and News

- The MSCI Asia Pacific ex-Japan index is set for its worst annual performance since 2008.
- The index is showing a negative return, reflecting a challenging period for the region's equities.
- Record-breaking inflows into China-focused ETFs reached $38.7 billion in the week ending October 9, 2024.
- The Amundi MSCI AC Asia Pacific Ex Japan UCITS ETF Acc has 100% allocation to the MSCI AC Asia Pacific ex Japan Index.

Goldman Sachs Report Insights

Goldman report

Key Points

- The US equity market accounts for around 70% of the MSCI AC World Index, indicating significant dominance in the global equity landscape.
- The biggest 10 US stocks account for over 20% of the entire value of the global index, further emphasizing the concentration of market value in the US.
- The MSCI world index is up nearly 40% in price terms alone since October 2023, and around 60% since the trough triggered by rising interest rates in 2022.
- The Nasdaq has climbed over 50% during the same period, and Nvidia, the World's biggest company, has surged 264%.
- The S&P 500 has had one of its strongest performances since 1928, with a significant rise in 2024.

Disclosures

- The report includes disclosures related to Article 6 (2) of the European Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) (2016/958) and company-specific regulatory disclosures.
- Restrictions on the use of the information provided include not reselling or reverse engineering the information, not creating derivative works, and not publishing or transmitting the information without express written consent from Goldman Sachs.